We allude to the steeple-chase, which, although our reporter has seen hundreds, he has never looked upon the equal of this see. The crowd fairly screamed themselves hoarse when the lookeys returned to scale, and some elderly gentlemen were sufficiently enthasiastic to jump on their hats.

Zigrag, the pet and much vantred favorite of the Emeralders, had a new jockey on his back, Elwees by name, who so satisfactorily acquited himself and won the race, that be became a bainnee of the day's wonder. Pepper rode Naunic Craddock with his usual excellence, and the plucky old man made a most deserving and courageous effort for victory. It is to be regretted that the same encomiums cannot be said for the lookey of Gen. Williams. When will owners learn that any person who can sit on the back of a horse over a jump is not necessarily a steeple chase rider. No, it requires study and practice, as well as anything else in which you desire to excell. It is as impossible for a country bumpkin to come gracefully into a fashious shie drawing-room, or the scullery drudge "Sarah" to perform the part of the fashionable belle at a reception, as for the unsophisticated to cut a respectable figure over a Steeple Chase Course.

A pretter race never was run. The riders performed to perfection and the gallant steeds did almost better, with the saving clause of Gen. Williams's jockey. A more gallant horse than the last mentioned scarcely exists, yet the owner continues to put on his noble steed's buck a young, unsophisticated man. The start was effected without trouble, none of the mags being young, foolish and restive, but well-bried veterons in many a hard contracted field. On receiving the word, Nannie and Zigzog made running, the namesake of the "Kars hero" laying well behind, as is his wont; all fences were clearly jumped in this order till reaching the sixth, when Williams bungled, and his rider went out of the saddle, destroying all chances he had in the race. As g is not the order of the day on such an occasion as this, and Zigzag went on their way at the same slap-up. At the bottom of the course the old mare place to Zigzag, who now in front sharping the pace considerably. At the water-jump before und, the gallant bay had a lead of some lengths, and both or in dushing style, the horse continuing to lead. SUPREME COURT—CIRCUIT—Oct. 16.—Before Mr. Justice Davis.

AN INSURANCE IMBROGLIO.

Leonard Appleby et al. agt. The Firemen's Fund Insurance Company.

This case has already been tried once in the Circuit,

This case has already been tried once in the Circuit, before Justice Foster, who dismissed the complaint. It was appealed to a Geneal Term of the Supreme Court, and is now sent back for a re-trial, mainly in relation to the origin of the fire in question, and as to whether any portion of the premises in question were used for a purpose not recognized in the policy issued by defendants.

Plaintiffs, it seems, leased the whole of the building at No. 360 Pearl-st., and used the lower portion of it for the storage of tobacco. They effected two insurances on their stock—one in the Astor Fire Insurance Company, for $5,000, and the other in defendants' Company, for $5,000, and the other in defendants' Company, for $15,000, Subsequent to effecting these insurances, the building was leased by certain parties, who occupied the upper portion of it for the business of finishing chairs, varuishing them, &c. The plaintiffs became tenants of these parties, and continued to occupy the lower portion of the building, but used a certain portion of it for storing articles other than tobacco. It is claimed by defendants that they were not notified tas they claim they ought to have been of these changes, and that, in consequence, plaintiffs' policy became void.

The loss of plaintiffs by a fire that took place subsequent to these changes amounted to $19,007 45, and the proportion claimed by them from defendants, including interest to date, is $13,907 83.

After testimony by the of the Messis. Approximately the first of the case to the jury, contending that the plaintiffs had violated their policy, which had been issued simply to insure certain goods on storage, at a premium consistent with the risk taken; that the fact of plaintiffs not notifying defendants of a hazardous business having subsequently been carried on in the building, rendered the policy void; that no matter what relation the defendants assumed to the building, whether as lessees, or simply as tenants, they were bound to notify the defendants of these changes, which increased the risk, and consequently the second of these changes, which increased the risk, and consequently and the second of these changes, which increased the risk, and consequently and consequently as addition to the premium, and lessees or simply as tenants, they were bound to notify the defendants of these changes, which increased the risk, and consequently would have enused an addition to the premium, and that the fire in question was caused by the prosecution of the business in the upper portion of the business in the upper portion of the business in the upper portion of the business.

Mr. Evarts then read evidence in support of the points advanced by him, and called witnesses and insurance experts whe testified that it was generally considered a violation of a fire insurance policy, for parties to act in relation thereto, as plaintiffs were assumed to have acted in this case.

It was contended by Mr. James W. Gerard, on behalf of the plaintiffs, that they were notobolized under the circumstances of this case to notify the company. It would have been time enough to notify the company. It would have been time enough to notify the were not bound to take cognizance for the benefit of an insurance company, of the acts and business of either their co-tenants or their labdical; that if such a so-called neglect vitiated a fire insurance policy, it would be useless to obtain one, the plaintiffs were not bound to toke after the interests of defendats, and, even if fault is found with them in this case, he believed it would be impossible for the defense to prove that the parties who occupied the upper portion of the building, did prosecute a buriness more hazardous than the one conducted by the plaintiffs in the lower portion.

Considerable testimony was taken in relation to the cause of the fire, the agreement in this policy, and the general rule in such cases. Case still on.

The plaintiff in this case, a boy of about 12 years' rights of a spike diriver, when he, thinking to do the captain a service, showed the boom off. The captain springs at him, got him by the throat and with the assistance of the mate, the other defendant, knocked him down and kicked him, cutting him badly about the head. On his cross-examination it appeared that there had been trouble between the captain of the vessel and the spile dirivers, the latter threatening to cut the vessel and then trying to pass between the vessel and then trying to pass between the vessel and the dock. The boom was so stayed that he could not move it and he did not know what happened afterward. He denied having had any connection with the spile dirivers or having used any violence on his side. He was confined to his house for some days and did not go to Esser Market till some twelve days after, except on the day of the injury who he went straight from the vessel to the police court.

The plaintiff's story was confirmed by other witnesses, his doctor making somewhat more light of his injuries than himself and his friends.

The Court adjourned before the defense was commenced. C. Schaeffer for plaintiff, R. H. Huntley for defendants.

A SLIGHT MISUNDERSTANDING.
Hamburgh and American Packet Co. agt. Alanson T. Briggs.
This case is one of those which frequently arise from a misconception of verbal agreements. The plaintiffs claim that the defendant purchased from them a number of barrels, and agreed to take them at $1.25 per barrel without inspection. The perendant claims that he agreed to take them at $1 per barrel. The jury, after hearing the evidence, took the plaintiffs view of the agreement, and rendered a verdict for them for the full amount claimed, $919 SC.

Bunglary.—James O'Brien was arraigned for burglary at No. 74 Roosevelt at, on the 7th ult. The police officer deposed that on his round he had seen the prisoner in company with three others at Mr. Allen's store he did not then particularise them, but on his return he saw the same company again. O'Brien had his hands behind his hanks for the purpose of servening himself, and the men and the woman were with O'Brien at his return. O'Brien appeared to have the symptoms of drunkenness upon him, nor did the officer observe any kind of burglars tools with him. He saw the prisoner leaning against the door. This was after 12 o'clock in the evening. The officer passed again on the same duty, and on returning the doors appeared to have been opened. This was all he had to testify.

charged with having stolen from the desk of S. R. Laing, Broadway, the sum of $285, on the 9th of June last.

The appearance of the prisoner appeared to attract the particular attention of the Court, on account of his youthful appearance.

Mr. Laing stated that he had left the amount named in his own private drawer, and that Compton was in his employ.

Mr. Howe cross examined the prisoner, by which it appeared that ten or twelve men might have had access to the same room.

Neveral witnesses were examined in regard to the reputation of the prisoner, all of whom testified to his advantage, except James Conlan, who had met him six weeks afterward, and to whom Conlan said: "It's better for me to keep away from there."

The Jury brought in a verdict of guilty. The prisoner was sentenced to five years in the State Prison.

Bernard Marce was charged with a similar offense, for stealing muslins and other property, amounting to $100, on the 12th of September last, the property of Wm. McCann.

This case being insupportable, the Jury, without leaving their seats, acquitted the prisoner.

The Court rose at 3 c clock.

BROOKLYN NEWS.

THE ALLEGED MURDEBER OF ROBERT S. WALKER LIBERATED ON $500 BAIL.-Robert Marvin, a hostler in the employ of Mr. Chandler of New Jersey, who, as has already been reported in The Tribune, was arrested by detectives Van reported in The Thibi Se, was arrested by detectives Van Wagner and Corwin on suspicion of having murdered Mr. Robert S. Walker who was at the time training one of Mr. Chandler's horses, has been liberated by Coroner Curtis on giving ball in the sum of $500. This metion of the Coroner seems strange, in view of the fact that it was well known that Marvin, after having objected to Mr. Walker's riding the horse he was training, had threatened to shoot him, and that when the detectives took him back to Jamaica. L. I., he made contradictory statements in relation to the affair. On the morning of the murder it was abown that the accused came in harriedly to the hotel and ordered breakfast, which he did not return to eat; but having ordered it went to stable harnessed a horse and drove to John d. Snediker's. While there, he stated that Mr. Walker had been fhrown from his wagon and kicked to death by the horse. He then drove to Newton, N. J., where he acted in such a manner as to attract general attention and suspicion. The inquest on the body of Mr. Walker will be conclused on Saturday next at Curtis's Hotel, Jamaica, when additional facts known at the time, Marvin should have been liberated, and on such triding ball.

THE MURDER OF POLICEMAN HIPWELL-ARREST ON SUMPICION-TENTIMONY BEFORE CORONER SMITH,-The excitement among the citizens and police of Williamsburgh in regard to the foul and mysterious assessination of Officer John regard to the foul and mysterious assassination of Officer John Hipwell of the Forty fifth Precinct remains unabated. Indeed, yesterday afternoon, when it was ascertained that the supposed morderer was arrested and locked up in the Station-House, the excitement was even greater than on Tuesday, morning, when the lifeless body of the unfortunate man was found covered with blood, Iring on the payement in Broadway. The man arrested on suspicion of perpetrating the bloody deed is known by the sonbriquet of Boston Jim. His real name is Patrick Sheffelin. This man was arrested some time ago by officer Hipwell while he was engaged in a drunken brawl at a public house in the Nineteenth Ward, and it is said that unpiessant feelings have existed between the two ness since that time. Sheffelin soluthes and hight correspond with the description given of the murderer by those who saw him after he committed the fearful crime. Some of the parties who saw the murderer leave his victim last evening called at the Station. House to identify the prisoner, but none of them were positive as to his identity, although they stated that he looked like the man they saw on the morning of the tragedy running down Broadway. Sheffelin has long been a resident of the lower portion of the Nineteenth Ward, and his reputation never stood good with the police. He will probably be detained in custody to await the result of the Coroner's inquest which was commenced yesterday afternoon and will be continued on Saturday morning next. The testimony taken before Coroner Smith did not differ materially from the accounts published yesterday. Private watelman John Van Nest, who was the first man who saw decreased after he was shot, testifies that he was again in high him when he was shot; that he heard two pistod shots fired before decreased fell mortally wounded, and that he saw aman leave Mr. Ackeriey's stoop (near which the murder was committed), and run down Broadway, he pursued this man some distance, but falled to overtake him, and then returned to Hipwell of the Forty fifth Precinct remains unabated. Indeed,
